

Summer Homework for IB Economics I (now transitioning to year IB II):

1) Internals: On the first day of school in September you will come to class with two internal assessments. The first will be the final draft of your micro internal, which you should edit based on the feedback received from me and your own ideas about how to perfect it. It should be in a finished state by September. That means you should read it carefully. If you said things that sounded a little “beginner,” improve on them. Don’t forget the goal is to say as much as possible technically and perfectly in 750 words. It’s a fun challenge. You will also hand in the first draft of your macro internal. E-mail me your articles for approval. Don't forget the parameters for choosing articles. For example, the article can't be from the same source as the first article, it must be NEWS (not commentaries/advertisements) and cannot be older than one year. Please note that failure to complete this assignment will affect your prediction as well as your grade, since whatever you are getting on MICRO internal is going into Skyward and you are getting a completion grade for Macro for handing it in on time.

2) Some of you are will be participating in the re-takes just before school opens. The IB office will be informing you.

Have a nice summer.
